

NEW LONDON, Conn., Dec. 7, 1878.
 "I am sorry, sir, but if you were dying in the

THE GOOD SIDE OF THE LAW.

There are, of course, two sides to the question and one of them is the good side, exhibited in the records of the police of this town for the month of November. The Prohibitory law has been in operation. The "force" consists of a captain, a sergeant and five patrolmen. The Captain states that the number of arrests for intoxication was thirty-five and for drunkenness fifty per month. Seven was the number arrested during the month of November—in fact, it was only six, as one of them got tipsy on the night before the law went into effect and was arrested until the following day. The whole number of persons arrested for each month is about one hundred and the number of persons locked up on other charges than drunkenness

[illegible]

SAMUEL WOOD'S WILL.

A motion was made yesterday, before Surrogate Calvin, for the opening of the decree in the matter of the will of Samuel Wood, who directed his executors to found a medical college in the city of New York. Mr. John E. Burrell appeared for one of the legatees named Farnall, who alleges that he had no notice of the agreement made by counsel to accept the codicil of the will, and withdrew all opposition. The Surrogate reserves his decision.

AMERICAN HENLEY REGATTA.
BOSTON, Mass., Dec. 7, 1878.

The following letter has been received by Captain Bancroft, of the Harvard University crew, and no doubt it has been sent to all the captains of college crews in the country:—

ALBANY, N. Y., Nov. 12, 1878.

DEAR SIR,—I am now having printed and shall soon mail to the leading colleges a formal circular announcing the fact that next year the National Association will inaugurate races open to collegians only, and inviting correspondence as to the same. The object of the Association is to place the regatta, etc. Three valuable prizes have

This letter was promptly answered, and it is believed may lead to the identification of the wife.

Albany stevedore. When the two men were within a few feet of one another it was clear to everybody present that mischief was intended. Then a horse-drawn peace machine flung its massive treadles at the two men. However, the horse did not touch the Websterian head of Duffy, but his arm fell short about six inches from where that gentleman stood ready to pay back as well as he was able the fierce onslaught.

At five minutes perfect order was restored, with the chairman of the meeting, administered a verbal chastigation to both the gentlemen. He expressed his self as astonished that they, occupying honorable positions, should disgrace themselves in such a manner.